

A Day in the Life of a Wealthy Affiliate Member

I am a highly satisfied member of Wealthy Affiliate University. That means that not only do I have a whole host of people that can help me learn about how to create a legitimate business online, I have tools available that make that task even easier. The two creators of the service are experts in the field of online businesses and they are extremely helpful.

That last paragraph should be enough to make you want to sign up for this incredible service. But just in case you're still not convinced, I've decided to spell out what a typical day for a Wealthy Affiliate member may entail. So here goes!

At the start of the day, I sign into my account at Wealthy Affiliate. This brings me to the Dashboard section. The Dashboard section is a high level overview of some of the exciting things that are happening on Wealthy Affiliate. It gives you a listing of links to what is New with the service. It gives the most recent links to the Share zone which allow members to exchange ideas and tips with each other. Then there is the sales section that shows how many sales of Wealthy Affiliate you have made for the day, the month, and over the lifetime of your membership. Plus a whole lot more that are too numerous to describe here.

I then proceed to the menu item "My WA" (WA stands for Wealthy Affiliate). In that section I head right to the "Tasks & Goals" item that lets me set daily/weekly/monthly goals and then break them down into individual tasks. Are you already seeing some of the great features of being a Wealthy Affiliate member?

Next, I back up to the learning center and discover what weak areas I need to work on or on topics that I haven't tackled before and spend some time reading through the tutorials. The tutorials are always available even after you have completed them so if you need extra help you can re-read them as many times as you want, and believe me you'll want to.

Sometimes, I'll follow along and do the exercises as they are presented and other times I will read through the entire lesson and then start doing what is presented in the lesson. For the accreditation courses, they force you to do the exercises right after the lesson so the latter option is not available when going through those lessons. But that's okay. It gives me the opportunity to get involved with taking steps that are actually going to build my business.

If I choose to write an article or two for the day, I can head on over to my Rapid Writer software that is included with my WA service. That tool is probably the one I use the most. It gives me the ability to check my keywords against the major search engines and see if they are not already saturated. It also has an immediate spell checking. You can even check keyword densities as that is a key component to improving your Search Engine rankings.

At any point if I get stuck or discouraged, it's off to the forum section. I start by trying to find posts of others who may have run into similar situations and hopefully, what they did to turn it around. Of course, if you don't find any immediate solutions, you can write a post about the problem. You will almost assuredly get a response. But if you don't you can always send a personal message to the service's creators and they will definitely help you out. That is the crux of the service. They will check out what you have done and then offer pointers on what could be corrected or improved upon.

There are many, many, many more features to Wealthy Affiliate and for future articles I will describe several of those other features in detail. Of course, if you are now convinced after reading this article that WA is a service that can really advance your knowledge of starting an online business, then by all means, use the link in my resource section to sign up and see for yourself all of these other features.

About the Author

James is an extremely satisfied member of Wealthy Affiliate University. By following the lessons and getting help from the members, he has supercharged his online sales. If you want to experience similar success, -- CLICK HERE --.

Source: <http://www.articlegods.com>